Both OC+OS feel the Directorate should get credit, where appropriate, for the efforts in this MDA area.
Hopefully, this memo will alert the IC staff to our regretful concerns.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Community Counterintelligence Staff
Intelligence Community Staff

VIA: Executive Officer to the DDA

FROM:  25X1
Acting Director of Security

SUBJECT: DCI Study of Intelligence Community Counterintelligence Analysis Efforts  25X1

REFERENCE: CCS/ICS Draft, dated 28 October 1983, same subject  25X1

1. The Office of Security has reviewed the final draft of the DCI Study of Intelligence Community Counterintelligence Analysis Efforts contained in reference. We note on page iii of the Executive Summary the statement: "Inputs responsive to the terms of reference were obtained from the . . . Central Intelligence Agency, including . . . DA/Office of Security and Office of Communications." One might surmise, given that quotation, that the Office of Security and Office of Communications inputs would appear somewhere in the Study. They do not. We have now twice provided substantial inputs to the Study, only to find that they have not been used.  25X1

2. In earlier discussion with a representative of your Staff, we learned that CCS/ICS made a unilateral decision to exclude the security offices of the various U. S. Government agencies from the Study because the Staff considers the work of these groups to be unidisciplinary. In our own case, the fact is that CIA's Office of Security has  full-time officers who contribute to Multidisciplinary Analysis (MDA) and the Office of Communications, which now has one officer working MDA, will have three in November 1983.  25X1

3. We believe that failure to include information concerning the contributions of these analysts gives an inaccurate and misleading picture of the MDA efforts of the Central Intelligence Agency.  25X1

4. If the substance of the Directorate of Administration inputs is included in the Staff's MDA Study in its complete and proper context, we concur with the content of the Study. If not, we dissent. In the latter event, we ask that our dissent be footnoted in the body of the Study and in the document forwarding the Study to the Chairman, Senior Interagency Group-Intelligence.
